Model A

Text Classification - Examines the input data for patterns and meaning that determine whether an email is likely to belong in a particular folder or category

Model B

Automatic Summarisation - In this case the application speeds up the process of understanding and assessing the contents of a document by summarising it

Model C

Text Classification - Examines large amounts of unstructured data in patients written or spoken responses. Searches for patterns in order to associate symptoms with particular medical conditions